1 Biography

Hi there! My name is Alan Lu and I'm a rising sophomore in college studying Computer Engineering at the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign.

1.1 Interests

I've always loved science, math, and technology! As a child, my favorite book was Flatland [1], a book which discussed the possibility of our world having more than 3 dimensions. This means there could be more to the world than just us! I participated in robotics from 7th grade to 12th grade, which motivated me to become an engineer.

In 11th grade and 12th grade, my interests shifted from Mechanical Engineering to Computer Science and Computer Engineering. I'm pretty interested in fields like Artificial Intelligence and Virtual Reality.

This summer, I'm excited to work with you guys to build some awesome projects and do some cool activities!
